We stood there for a full minute, making our own little frozen tableau, while I studied Willie. I decided that he was probably telling the truth; he would like very much to shoot me. 'M M' Plays Don's Cupid

For Don Murray, who plays Marilyn Monroe's cowboy lover in "Bus Stop," Sunday of the picture was a happy ending for their romance.

"I'm beginning to think I underestimated you, Willie. You were a Nazi and when they went down in the defense, you managed to watch around and land with both the Russians and the American Central Intelligence Agency. I guess you figured you couldn't lose, being on both sides."

"I just stopped in for a cup of coffee," I said. "The coffee was too hot and that's why it took so long."

"Stupid American pig," he said. "I know you went there for a job. You were a Nazi, but I was my thought that you might try to come over on your own. So I look it upon myself to watch around and land with both the Russians and the American Central Intelligence Agency. I guess you figured you couldn't lose, being on both sides."

Couple Rescued From Wrecked Car

PERRY, Mich. (A-P)—An elderly couple was trapped under 20 tons of steel yesterday when a semi-trailer truck loaded with wheels toppled on their car.

The load was sinking down on Williams Nichols, 74, and his wife, Agnes, 77, of Battle Creek, Mich., until June 17. The date of the accident is still being investigated.

Using the timbers and jacks, volunteers shored up the heavy semi-trailer while one of the workers broke window and pulled Nichols and his wife to safety. The couple escaped with only bruises.

Debt Totals Soaring to New Heights

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (A-P)—Debt totals—public and private—are soaring to new heights in America this year. The lofty structure worries those who wonder what would happen if something should shake the foundations of the present good times.

But comfort can be found today in a report that the nation's tangible wealth—public and private—is increasing much faster than its debts. And our national income has been rising in the last 10 years proportionately more than our debts.

Strayed Demos Hold Key to Nat'l Race

By LOVID MARTIN

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 8 (A-P)—Democrats who strayed away from 1952 day after day in the home of the Missouri State Capitol, held the key to the outcome of the presidential race in the state.

Democratic leaders say that about 100,000 of the party regulars voted the Republican ticket in 1952 when Eisenhower had a 55-45 vote majority over Adlai Stevenson. This year, they say, the party is split.

Dodgers Rated Even Chance to Win Series

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN (AP)—The home-loving Brooklyn Dodgers were back in the Yankees' line-up today. Yesterday's 10-inning 1-0 triumph, featuring a high-tension pitched duel between Don Niskens and Bob Turley, not only squared the World Series at three games apiece but made the Dodgers even money to repeat their 1955 success over the New York Yankees.

In the seventh and deciding game, the issue was thrown squarely in the hands of Don Niskens, Brooklyn's 27-game victory pitcher, and Johnny Kucks, the Yankees' 18-game winning ace. Niskens, who has won 10 of his last 11 games, was Newcomer's second ace. The big fellow, who has been accused, justly or unjustly, of not being able to win the big ones, seemed an awful soft in the second game. Niskens pitched over 10 innings and left with an 0-6 deficit after having been backed up for six hits.

Yesterday's game was a scoreless affair until the last out of the eighth inning when Niskens, who had pitched 10 1/2 innings in the first two games, was hit by a home run by Earl Francis. Niskens' 10-inning performance was a record for a pitcher in the first two games of a series.

Until then, neither Niskens nor Turley had permitted a runner to advance beyond second. Niskens pitched the longest game of his major league career, had allowed only seven errors, no hit longer than a double, walked two and struck out five. Turley pitched the longest game of his career, walked eight, two errors, and struck out 11 batters. He walked eight, two errors, and struck out 11 batters. He walked eight, two errors, and struck out 11 batters.

Picks Baylor, A&M, TCU and Sooners to Win

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
NEW YORK (AP)—The 33 major college football teams in the nation are ranked in the following order: Baylor, A&M, TCU, and Sooners to win.

Webb, who like his opponent is a 2-1 choice in the National Football Association.

Spider has had only 18 pro fights, losing one, and scoring 11 knockouts. Colton has won 41, lost 11, and had 11 draws. He has a kayo count of 21.

Webb Favored Over Colton

CHICAGO (AP)—Charlie (King) Colton, who scored successive victories over Joe Gaudinello last spring, and Spider Webb, who won his 15th straight decision, tonight in a 10-round middleweight battle at Chicago Stadium.

Webb, former NCAA champion, is a 2-1 choice in the National Football Association.

Spider has had only 18 pro fights, losing one, and scoring 11 knockouts. Colton has won 41, lost 11, and had 11 draws. He has a kayo count of 21.

Quotations From Folks Around U. S.

By United Press
WASHINGTON—A Veterans Administration guide for training employees to face the public with confidence.

"Let the visitor talk. Try to achieve the human touch by putting a smile on your face. It's the only way to win."

My legs are still rubbery all over and I'm so nervous and excited I don't even know what day it is.

Until yesterday, the only thing I ever knew about a nation's game was that I read about it somewhere in a record book. Now, I know it's a game that I've ever seen, much less pitch one.

If this story doesn't read right, it's because I'm still a little green. I've never pitched a ball before. I've only been in the dugout for a few days. I've only been in the dugout for a few days.

Greatest Game of Career Says Umpire

BROOKLYN (AP)—Don Larsen of the New York Yankees will never forget his history-making pitching performance against the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday.

Neither will Babe Pinelli, senior member of the National League staff of umpires. For it was Pinelli who umpired the first perfect game in World Series history.

"It was the greatest game I ever watched," Pinelli said happily as he tried to relax in his dressing room after the game. "And it was also my last sound sleep."

If Boss Zetterling's self starter made the automobile industry what it is today, John Rand's creation of the collapsible metal tube for paint set up the popularity of the compared to this. Robinson Wants Another Series Try

By WILL GRIMSLEY
BROOKLYN (AP)—Jackie Robinson, feeling "like a kid again," wants to help Brooklyn win one more National League pennant before pulling down the curtain on his active playing career.

"I feel I've got to pull out one more good year in these old legs of mine," the superb Negro athlete said after delivering the blow which gave the Dodgers a 10-inning, scoreless victory yesterday in the sixth game of the World Series.

"I'm sure you can help them with another pennant. Next year is the case. It's something to be hard for me to do something after—like man."

Robinson is read to flight managerial material, although no one of his race has led a professional team in this country—and his name is topped up as possible manager of the Dodgers.

"Money is not a factor," Jackie said. "I want my wife and child to be able to live in peace and quiet. I want to be able to live in peace and quiet. I want to be able to live in peace and quiet."

WASHINGTON—A Veterans Administration guide for training employees to face the public with confidence.

"Let the visitor talk. Try to achieve the human touch by putting a smile on your face. It's the only way to win."

My legs are still rubbery all over and I'm so nervous and excited I don't even know what day it is.

Until yesterday, the only thing I ever knew about a nation's game was that I read about it somewhere in a record book. Now, I know it's a game that I've ever seen, much less pitch one.

If this story doesn't read right, it's because I'm still a little green. I've never pitched a ball before. I've only been in the dugout for a few days. I've only been in the dugout for a few days.

Crowds Flock to Series and to Get Larger

NEW YORK, Oct. 9 (INS)—The Yankees' 10-inning triumph over the Dodgers yesterday was a record for a pitcher in the first two games of a series.

Until then, neither Niskens nor Turley had permitted a runner to advance beyond second. Niskens pitched the longest game of his major league career, had allowed only seven errors, no hit longer than a double, walked two and struck out five. Turley pitched the longest game of his career, walked eight, two errors, and struck out 11 batters. He walked eight, two errors, and struck out 11 batters.

Greatest Game of Career Says Umpire

BROOKLYN (AP)—Don Larsen of the New York Yankees will never forget his history-making pitching performance against the Brooklyn Dodgers yesterday.

Neither will Babe Pinelli, senior member of the National League staff of umpires. For it was Pinelli who umpired the first perfect game in World Series history.

"It was the greatest game I ever watched," Pinelli said happily as he tried to relax in his dressing room after the game. "And it was also my last sound sleep."

Robinson Wants Another Series Try

By WILL GRIMSLEY
BROOKLYN (AP)—Jackie Robinson, feeling "like a kid again," wants to help Brooklyn win one more National League pennant before pulling down the curtain on his active playing career.

"I feel I've got to pull out one more good year in these old legs of mine," the superb Negro athlete said after delivering the blow which gave the Dodgers a 10-inning, scoreless victory yesterday in the sixth game of the World Series.

"I'm sure you can help them with another pennant. Next year is the case. It's something to be hard for me to do something after—like man."

Robinson is read to flight managerial material, although no one of his race has led a professional team in this country—and his name is topped up as possible manager of the Dodgers.

"Money is not a factor," Jackie said. "I want my wife and child to be able to live in peace and quiet. I want to be able to live in peace and quiet. I want to be able to live in peace and quiet."

Dodgers Rated Even Chance to Win Series

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN (AP)—The home-loving Brooklyn Dodgers were back in the Yankees' 10-inning 1-0 triumph, featuring a high-tension pitched duel between Don Natsopoulos and Bob Turley, not only squared the World Series at three games apiece, but made the Dodgers even money to repeat their 1955 success over the New York Yankees.

In the seventh and deciding game, the issue was thrown squarely in the hands of Don Natsopoulos, Brooklyn's 27-game, wily-swinging pitcher, and Johnny Kuck, the Yankees' 18-game-winning ace.

This was Newcomb's second series start. The big fellow, who has been accused, justly or unjustly, of not being able to win the big one, scored an awful scalp in the second game, Newcomb pitching over 10 innings and left with an 0-6 deficit after having been racked up for six hits.

Yesterday's game was a scoreless affair until the last half of the 10th inning, when Natsopoulos, who hit longer than the Dodgers reared back to pitch, pitched a 10th-inning home run to tie the game.

My legs are still rubbery all over and I'm so nervous and excited I don't even know what day it is.

Until yesterday, the only thing I ever knew about a perfect game is that I read about it somewhere in a record book. I don't know what it is, but I don't think I'd ever see one, much less pitch one.

If this story doesn't read right, it's because I'm still a little shaky. I still can't think straight. Honest. I'm not what you call a professional. I'm just a kid.

NEW YORK (AP)—The 33rd annual college football season is under way, and the picks of the National Football Association are in. The picks are: Baylor, A&M, TCU and Sooners to win the national championship.

There were 38 correct guesses in the picks. The average of 770 picks was 104 right, 20 wrong for 100.

This week's picks: Oklahoma (AP)—Tommy McDonald could not score in the Sooners' 60-0 rout of Texas Tech. He will not be picked to win the game.

Boh teams will be suffering from a pitched duel between Don Natsopoulos and Bob Turley, not only squared the World Series at three games apiece, but made the Dodgers even money to repeat their 1955 success over the New York Yankees.

In the seventh and deciding game, the issue was thrown squarely in the hands of Don Natsopoulos, Brooklyn's 27-game, wily-swinging pitcher, and Johnny Kuck, the Yankees' 18-game-winning ace.

This was Newcomb's second series start. The big fellow, who has been accused, justly or unjustly, of not being able to win the big one, scored an awful scalp in the second game, Newcomb pitching over 10 innings and left with an 0-6 deficit after having been racked up for six hits.

Dodgers Rated Even Chance to Win Series

By JOE REICHLER
BROOKLYN (U)—The home-loving Brooklyn Dodgers were back in the Yankees' line-up today. Yesterday's 10-inning 1-0 triumph, featuring a high-tension pitched duel between Don Niskens and Bob Turley, not only squared the World Series at three games apiece but made the Dodgers even money to repeat their 1955 success over the New York Yankees.

In the seventh and deciding game, the issue was decided decisively in the hands of Don Niskens, Brooklyn's 27-game victory over the Yankees in the 1955 season. Niskens, a 34-year-old right-hander, pitched a complete game, allowing only one run in the eighth inning.

Yesterday's game was a scoreless affair until the late eighth inning, when the Yankees broke through. Turley, who pitched the first seven innings, was hit by a home run in the eighth. Niskens, who pitched the last three, was hit by a home run in the ninth.

Hodges Spent Thousands on Politics

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN

CHICAGO (UP)—Deposed State Auditor Orville Hodges testified today he spent $200,000 on "political contributions."

Hodges, now serving a prison term for his $1,300,000 raid on the state treasury, testified before the Senate Banking Committee.

He said his contributions to the Republican campaign in Illinois in 1954 came from his own funds.

Committee Chairman Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) expressed doubt.

Hodges said he spent $150,000 on the 1952 primary and $50,000 on the election.

Earlier, Hodges said he could not recall what he did with $65,000 handed him in a jump sum by a bank elder during his losing of funds.

Fulbright promptly accused Hodges of lying.

At one point, the former playboy politician who lived in the lap of luxury said he is worried now about his wife who will be able to make ends meet.

Hodges, who began testifying at the opening session of the hearing yesterday, was excused today after Fulbright rebuked him severely for evading questions.

Hodges and Fulbright got into a wrangle over the disgraced politician's story of the $65,000 he got from Ralph Schitz, an employee of the Southmost Trust and Savings Co. of Chicago.

Schitz testified yesterday he handed the cash, in large bills, to Hodges's assistant, Edward A. Epling, in return for $65,000 in fraudulent state checks signed by Hodges.

Hodges insisted he could not remember what he did with the money.

"Mr. Hodges, you mean to say that you did business on such a big scale you can't remember what you did with $65,000?" Mr. Hodges, you're lying to this committee," Fulbright said.

Hodges, on the witness stand for the second day, said he has returned $600,000 to the state.

Fulbright said the total he took was about $1,300,000.

"That leaves $600,000 or $700,000 you haven't given back," Fulbright said. "That's a large sum of money for one individual to spend in 2 1/2 years — a quarter of a million dollars a year."

"You couldn't possibly have forgotten what you did with that," Continued on Page 11

Barton Kreuzer of the Radio Corp. of America, New York, was elected president of the society.

Coalition in Honduras Wins Votes

The ruling government coalition claims a clean sweep today in Honduras' violence-marked Constituent Assembly election. The opposition Liberal party called the election a fraud.

The Assembly is expected to name 71-year-old Acting President Julio Lozano to a full six-year term as president. If his supporters' victory claim is borne out in official returns, Lozano called the Assembly to meet Nov. 11.

At least 11 persons were killed in election day clashes Sunday. Nine others were wounded.

Police charged the Liberals with responsibility for the violence. They said Liberals attacked an army post at the north coast banana town of Villavieja, scene of most of the casualties, and that a cash between Liberals and police in the capital was started by the opposition faction.

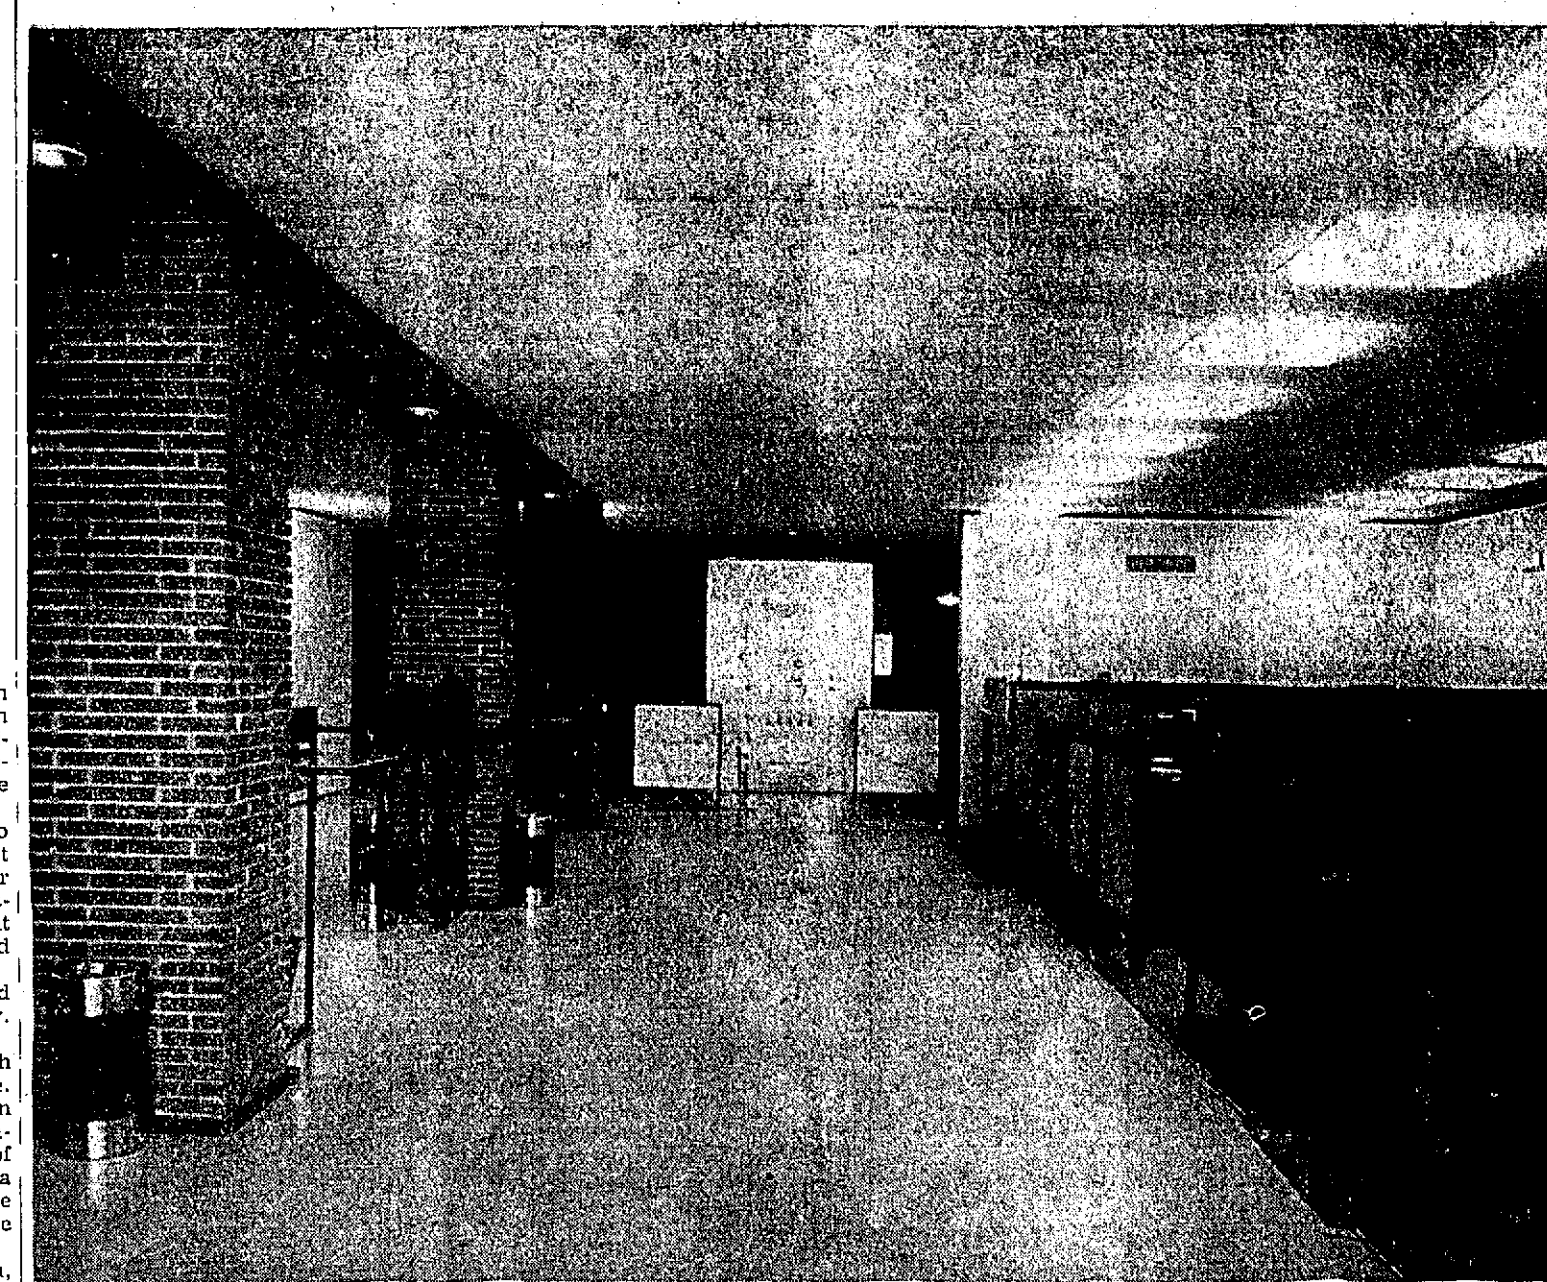

Witnesses in Tegucigalpa, however, said they saw an officer in a jeep start the shooting at a crowd of Liberal supporters after a youth tossed an orange at police. The only persons available of the violence elsewhere in the country came from public and government sources.

EXCUSED

NEW YORK, (U) — Max Hauser, Republican candidate for assemblyman in Brooklyn, asked to be excused from jury duty during lunch hours and evenings so he could campaign.

Judge Anthony Digiovanna, a Democrat, advised Hauser he could get more votes during daylight hours and excused him until next May.

Wire Service Is Proving Interesting

Building Completely Remodeled Inside and Out Giving City a Modern Banking Establishment

Completion of its enlarged and remodeled building at Second and Elm Sts. will be celebrated by Citizens National Bank with an Open House from 4 to 8 p. m. Thursday, October 11. The Southwest Arkansas public is invited to this four-hour reception.

On view will be a beautiful and modern banking house. The main banking room is reached by a glass door which opens electrically at the patron's touch. In this large room the tellers' windows are at the left with executive desks at the right.

Two new vaults at the rear give three times the former vault space including a safe-deposit box section with booths for the convenience and privacy of patrons. Vault doors are electrically opened and closed.

There are three private conference rooms, a completely new bookkeeping room on the south side of the building, and behind the bookkeeping room is an employee lounge and coffee bar.

A 30-ton York system furnishes central air-conditioning and heating for both the bank and the building's second floor offices.

The bank's first step in its construction program was to purchase the property adjoining its south wall from Tubal Feldt, Jr., and new offices were built in the purchased property and the offices in the original bank building were remodeled, all served by the central heating and air-conditioning system. Second-floor offices are reached by an automatic elevator.

From the planning stage to completion by General Contractor C. D. Lauterbach the whole building program required a year.

It marks the 54th anniversary of the bank, which was organized August 2, 1902, as the Citizens Bank of Hope, a state bank, whose first location was diagonally across the Second and Elm intersection from the present building.

In the stand formerly occupied by White & Co. Four years later the bank constructed the building at its present location, which is now enlarged and remodeled.

The founders back in 1902, starting with a paid-up capital of $55,000, were: R. M. LaGrone, Sr., president; R. M. Bryant, vice-president; Charles McKee, cashier; C. C. Spragins, bookkeeper; O. A. Graves, attorney.

The original board of directors were: Mr. LaGrone, Mr. Bryant, L. D. Reed, A. L. Black, L. A. Fox

ter, A. L. Bells, and John Arnold. Mr. McKee resigned as cashier after the first year to accept a position in Little Rock, and Mr. Spragins became cashier in 1913.

In 1905, after three years' operation the bank declared a stock dividend of 50 per cent. The stockholders added another 50 per cent — and the bank's capital was increased from $55,000 to $82,500.

In 1914 the bank was converted to a national bank, and its name changed to Citizens National Bank with capital of $100,000 and surplus of $50,000.

Its original officers were: Mr. LaGrone, president, and Mr. Reed, vice-president, were elected directors. Mr. LaGrone died in 1924, and on January 11, 1951, his son, R. M. LaGrone, Jr., was elected president.

At the same time O. A. Graves, formerly vice-president, and a director, was elected chairman of the board.

And C. C. Spragins, cashier, became executive vice-president.

Dale Jones became cashier, and Olin Lewis and Raymond Jones assistant cashiers.

Today the bank has a capital structure of $900,000 and total assets above $1,000,000.

Today's board of directors are: O. A. Graves, R. M. LaGrone, Jr., C. C. Spragins, Dale Jones, and Reed, J. A. Hayes, Albert Graves, N. T. Jewell, George W. Peckham, F. J. McElroy, and George W. Robison.

Aircraft Carrier Up for Sale

WASHINGTON (UP)—The famed old aircraft carrier Enterprise, veteran of 20 World War II battles in the Pacific, was put up for sale today by the navy yesterday.

The Navy decided to sell the 20-year-old ship, now mothballed near Bayonne, N. J., is not worth "repairing or modernizing to handle present aircraft and guns." Consequently, the ship will be sold to the highest bidder.

The Enterprise, which has nose planes, sank 17 ships and damaged 102 more while patrolling the Pacific during the war, except the battle of the Coral Sea, the Navy said.

Citizens Bank Invites Public to Open House Thursday

Hodges Spent Thousands on Politics

By ROBERT T. LOUGHRAN
CHICAGO (UP)—Deposed State Auditor Orville Hodges testified today he spent $200,000 on "political contributions."

Hodges, now serving a prison term for his $1,300,000 raid on the state treasury, testified before the Senate Banking Committee.

He said his contributions to the Republican campaign in Illinois in 1954 came from his own funds.

Committee Chairman Sen. J. William Fulbright (D-Ark.) expressed doubt.

Hodges said he spent $150,000 on the 1952 primary and $50,000 on the election.

Earlier, Hodges said he could not recall what he did with $65,000 handed him in a jump sum by a bank elder during his losing of funds.

Fulbright promptly accused Hodges of lying.

At one point, the former playboy politician who lived in the lap of luxury said he is worried now about his wife who will be able to make ends meet.

Hodges, who began testifying at the opening session of the hearing yesterday, was excused today after Fulbright rebuked him severely for evading questions.

Hodges and Fulbright got into a wrangle over the disgraced politician's story of the $65,000 he got from Ralph Schitz, an employee of the Southmost Trust and Savings Co. of Chicago.

Schitz testified yesterday he handed the cash, in large bills, to Hodges's assistant, Edward A. Epling, in return for $65,000 in fraudulent state checks signed by Hodges.

Hodges insisted he could not remember what he did with the money.

"Mr. Hodges, you mean to say that you did business on such a big scale you can't remember what you did with $65,000?" Mr. Hodges, you're lying to this committee," Fulbright said.

Hodges, on the witness stand for the second day, said he has returned $600,000 to the state.

Fulbright said the total he took was about $1,300,000.

"That leaves $600,000 or $700,000 you haven't given back," Fulbright said. "That's a large sum of money for one individual to spend in 2 1/2 years — a quarter of a million dollars a year."

"You couldn't possibly have forgotten what you did with that," Continued on Page 11

Thimble Sized Radios Available

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thimble-sized radio receivers you can wear in your ear are in the offing.

Pick up only one station, were described yesterday to the Society of Motion Picture and Television Engineers, an Inglenwood, Calif., sutling engine.

Schmidt said the radios, powered by a hermetically sealed battery, could be mass-produced for $1.50 each. The batteries would last six to nine months, he said.

Barton Kreuzer of the Radio Corp. of America, New York, was elected president of the society.

Coalition in Honduras Wins Votes

The ruling government coalition claims a clean sweep today in Honduras' violence-marked Constituent Assembly election. The opposition Liberal party called the election a fraud.

The Assembly is expected to name 71-year-old Acting President Julio Lozano to a full six-year term as president. If his supporters' victory claim is borne out in official returns, Lozano called the Assembly to meet Nov. 11.

At least 11 persons were killed in election day clashes Sunday. Nine others were wounded.

Police charged the Liberals with responsibility for the violence. They said Liberals attacked an army post at the north coast banana town of Villanueva, scene of most of the casualties, and that a cash between Liberals and police in the capital was started by the opposition faction.

Witnesses in Tegucigalpa, however, said they saw an officer in a jeep start the shooting at a crowd of Liberal supporters after a youth tossed an orange at police. The only persons available of the violence elsewhere in the country came from public and government sources.

Truman Talks of Shameful GOP Record

By BOB HOLTON
PITTSBURGH (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says the Eisenhower administration and Republican congressmen have built up a "shameful record."

The former President made the statement here last night at a Democratic rally at which he charged the Eisenhower administration with "blocking body need."

Truman said Eisenhower, who is scheduled to deliver a major campaign speech here tonight, has resorted to "misrepresentation" in previous speeches and predicted he would have "a more honest" record.

Building Completely Remodeled Inside and Out Giving City a Modern Banking Establishment

Completion of its enlarged and remodeled building at Second and Elm Sts. will be celebrated by Citizens National Bank with an Open House from 4 to 8 p. m. Thursday, October 11. The Southwest Arkansas public is invited to this four-hour reception.

On view will be a beautiful and modern banking house. The main banking room is reached by a glass door which opens electrically at the patron's touch. In this large room the tellers' windows are at the left with executive desks at the right.

Two new vaults at the rear give three times the former vault space including a safe-deposit box section with booths for the convenience and privacy of patrons. Vault doors are electrically opened and closed.

There are three private conference rooms, a completely new bookkeeping room on the south side of the building, and behind the bookkeeping room is an employee lounge and coffee bar.

A 30-ton York system furnishes central air-conditioning and heating for both the bank and the building's second floor offices.

The bank's first step in its construction program was to purchase the property adjoining its south wall from Tubal Feldt, Jr., and new offices were built in the purchased property and the offices in the original bank building were remodeled, all served by the central heating and air-conditioning system. Second-floor offices are reached by an automatic elevator.

From the planning stage to completion by General Contractor C. D. Lauterbach the whole building program required a year.

It marks the 54th anniversary of the bank, which was organized August 2, 1902, as the Citizens Bank of Hope, a state bank, whose first location was diagonally across the Second and Elm intersection from the present building.

While & Co. Four years later the bank constructed the building at its present location, which is now enlarged and remodeled.

The founders back in 1902, starting with a paid-up capital of $55,000, were: R. M. LaGrone, Sr., president; R. M. Bryant, vice-president; Charles McKee, cashier; C. C. Spragins, bookkeeper; O. A. Graves, attorney.

The original board of directors were: Mr. LaGrone, Mr. Bryant, L. D. Reed, A. L. Black, L. A. Fox.

Hodges insisted he could not remember what he did with the money.

"Mr. Hodges, you mean to say that you did business on such a big scale you can't remember what you did with $65,000?" Mr. Hodges, you're lying to this committee," Fulbright said.

Hodges, on the witness stand for the second day, said he has returned $600,000 to the state.

Fulbright said the total he took was about $1,300,000.

"That leaves $600,000 or $700,000 you haven't given back," Fulbright said. "That's a large sum of money for one individual to spend in 2 1/2 years — a quarter of a million dollars a year."

Thimble Sized Radios Available

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Thimble-sized radio receivers you can wear in your ear are in the offing.

Schmidt said the radios, powered by a hermetically sealed battery, could be mass-produced for $1.50 each. The batteries would last six to nine months, he said.

Barton Kreuzer of the Radio Corp. of America, New York, was elected president of the society.

Coalition in Honduras Wins Votes

The ruling government coalition claims a clean sweep today in Honduras' violence-marked Constituent Assembly election. The opposition Liberal party called the election a fraud.

The Assembly is expected to name 71-year-old Acting President Julio Lozano to a full six-year term as president. If his supporters' victory claim is borne out in official returns, Lozano called the Assembly to meet Nov. 11.

At least 11 persons were killed in election day clashes Sunday. Nine others were wounded.

Police charged the Liberals with responsibility for the violence. They said Liberals attacked an army post at the north coast banana town of Villanueva, scene of most of the casualties, and that a cash between Liberals and police in the capital was started by the opposition faction.

Witnesses in Tegucigalpa, however, said they saw an officer in a jeep start the shooting at a crowd of Liberal supporters after a youth tossed an orange at police. The only persons available of the violence elsewhere in the country came from public and government sources.

Truman Talks of Shameful GOP Record

By BOB HOLTON

PITTSBURGH (AP)—Former President Harry S. Truman says the Eisenhower administration and Republican congressmen have built up a "shameful record."

The former President made the statement here last night at a Democratic rally at which he charged the Eisenhower administration with "blocking body need."

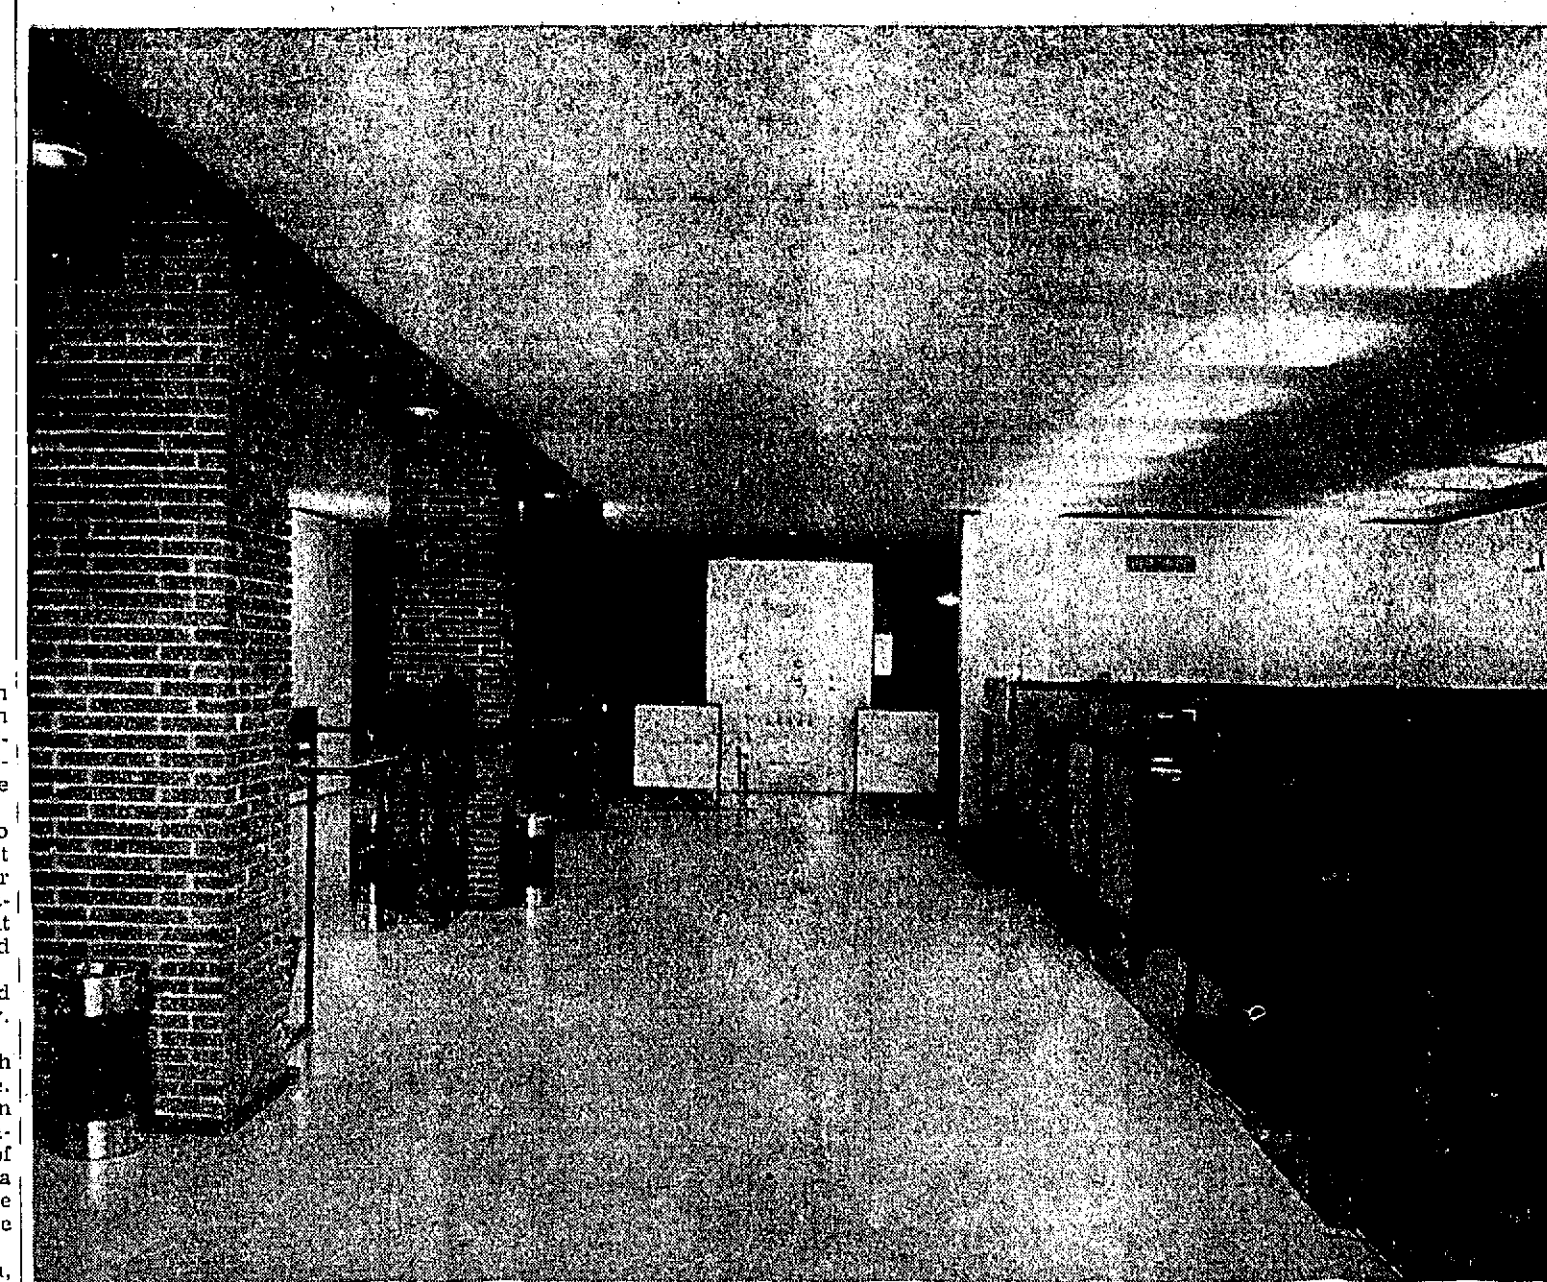

Truman said Eisenhower, who is scheduled to deliver a major campaign speech here tonight, has resorted to "misrepresentation" in previous speeches and predicted he would have "a more honest" record.

In a whirlwind tour of this heavily industrialized area, Truman, who said "I'm on our side" on the question of continued testing of the hydrogen weapons, said he was "on the same wagon."

Truman answered "I'm in charge of it."

Building Completely Remodeled Inside and Out Giving City a Modern Banking Establishment

Completion of its enlarged and remodeled building at Second and Elm Sts. will be celebrated by Citizens National Bank with an Open House from 4 to 8 p. m. Thursday, October 11. The Southwest Arkansas public is invited to this four-hour reception.

On view will be a beautiful and modern banking house. The main banking room is reached by a glass door which opens electrically at the patron's touch. In this large room the teller's windows are at the left with executive desks at the right.

Two new vaults at the rear give three times the former vault space including a safe-deposit box section with booths for the convenience and privacy of patrons. Vault doors are electrically opened and closed.

There are three private conference rooms, a completely new bookkeeping room on the south side of the building, and behind the bookkeeping room is an employee lounge and coffee bar.

A 30-ton York system furnishes central air-conditioning and heating for both the bank and the building's second floor offices.

The bank's first step in its construction program was to purchase the property adjoining its south wall from Tubal Feldt, Jr., and new offices were built in the purchased property and the offices in the original bank building were remodeled, all served by the central heating and air-conditioning system. Second-floor offices are reached by an automatic elevator.

From the planning stage to completion by General Contractor C. D. Lauterbach the whole building program required a year.

It marks the 54th anniversary of the bank, which was organized August 2, 1902, as the Citizens Bank of Hope, a state bank, whose first location was diagonally across the Second and Elm intersection from the present building.

While & Co. Four years later the bank constructed the building at its present location, which is now enlarged and remodeled.

The founders back in 1902, starting with a paid-up capital of $55,000, were: R. M. LaGrone, Sr., president; R. M. Bryant, vice-president; Charles McKee, cashier; C. C. Spragins, bookkeeper; O. A. Graves, attorney.

The original board of directors were: Mr. LaGrone, Mr. Bryant, L. D. Reed, A. L. Black, L. A. Fox.

After the first year to accept a position in Little Rock, and Mr. Spragins became cashier in 1913.

In 1905, after three years' operation the bank declared a stock dividend of 50 per cent. The stockholders added another 50 per cent and the bank's capital was increased from $55,000 to $165,000.

In 1914 the bank was converted to a national bank, and its name changed to Citizens National Bank with capital of $100,000 and surplus of $50,000.

Its original officers were: Mr. LaGrone, Sr., president; R. M. Bryant, vice-president; Charles McKee, cashier; C. C. Spragins, bookkeeper; O. A. Graves, attorney.

Mr. LaGrone died in 1924, and on January 11, 1951, his son, R. M. LaGrone, Jr., was elected president.

At the same time O. A. Graves, formerly vice-president and a director, was elected chairman of the board.

And C. C. Spragins, cashier, became executive vice-president.

Dale Jones became cashier, and Olin Lewis and Raymond Jones assistant cashiers.

Today the bank has a capital structure of $900,000 and total assets above $1,000,000.

Today's board of directors are: O. A. Graves, R. M. LaGrone, Jr., C. C. Spragins, Dale Jones, Raymond Jones, J. A. Haynes, Albert Graves, N. T. Jewell, George W. Peckham, F. J. McElroy, and George W. Robison.

New Artificial Kidney Could Prevent Death

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

SAINT FRANCISCO (AP) — A surgeon today described a simple new artificial kidney machine which might prevent death from blood poisoning.

The machine, which he called "the work of all time," would be used to remove "fatal poisons" from the blood. It is made of a thin, collapsible tube of plastic, sausage casing, filled with a special fluid to make it work like a healthy kidney to purify the blood. It is used when the kidneys are small, injured or diseased.

small intestine. This artificial kidney has kept dogs alive even when both their kidneys had been removed. It also helped a man dying of a chronic kidney disease that had ruined his kidneys.

This bold approach to a most serious problem was reported at the opening of the American College of Surgeons' annual congress by Dr. Paul R. Schloerb, surgeon of the University of Kansas School of Medicine and Kansas City Veterans Administration hospital.

Dr. Schloerb spoke at sessions devoted to new research ideas to save lives.

"Blood poisoning, or uremia, comes when injured or diseased kidneys fail to remove poisons accumulating in the blood. One answer is to tap blood flowing through an artery and send it through an artificial kidney machine where it's purified and put back into a vein.

The heart of these machines is a thin sausage casing with tiny pores permitting poisons in the blood, such as potassium, urea and nitrogen, to escape into a special bath of surrounding fluid.

Dr. Schloerb finds the sausage casing works just as well when put inside the small intestine. It can remove poisons from the blood, then even though not in direct contact with the blood.

The tube, with one end closed, is put into the intestine. The special liquid which is pumped into the open end of the tube and escapes through another channel at the open end.

So far this method has been tried on only one human, a

46-year-old man dying of hopeless kidney damage. Lying in a coma when he wasn't out of his mind from the effects of blood poisoning, he was too sick to swallow the tubing, so a seven-inch section of it was inserted surgically in his small intestine.

Within hours he improved, could talk rationally with his wife. He was holding his own against blood poisoning, but died later of a coronary attack.

Less ill persons might swallow the tubing, getting another temporarily built-in kidney to pull them through acute attacks of kidney failure until their own kidneys recovered, Dr. Schloerb said.

During World War II, wine ran in the gutters of Marsala, Sicily, when Allied planes bombed the big wine works there.

The following article written by John Hollis of the Houston Post appeared recently in the Texas newspapers. As it concerns a local boy playing at University of Houston the Star is printing it in detail, with exception of a picture which accompanied the story in the Post. The article follows:

During Saturday's final game-type scrimmage, an enterprising Post photographer focused on the action and, during the rough stuff, preserved four exposures for posterity.

Back on the grounds of the fourth estate, the guy with the Graflex produced four photos. They showed:

Ray Churchwell tackling Paul Sweeten.

Ray Churchwell tackling Billy Koons.

Ray Churchwell running back a punt.

Ray Churchwell knocking Tackle Joe Rallano back into ball carrier Don Flynn, with Flynn tripping up.

Regardless where you look on any day the Cougars practice, spindly-legged Ray Churchwell is where the action is thickest. Speak Curley Johnson, Dalva Allen, the garrulous Rudy Spittenberger or anyone else, when they start talking about guts, the thin-shanked, soft-spoken Churchwell is first mentioned.

Phil Muscarello, an ex-Marine who's been there, perhaps gives the sophomore from Hope, Arkansas, his top compliment. "Churchwell," Muscarello nods, "has got a stomach full of guts. He'll die into anybody."

As further testimony Churchwell himself held his own in practice because of a sprained ankle suffered in last Saturday's scrimmage. Ray Churchwell was back in pads, tackling with all his old carelessness as the Cougars played against Mississippi State defenses.

You won't find Churchwell among the team's holdovers or even four units; his sophomore status yields to those of higher grading. But ever-ready Churchwell was back in pads, tackling with all his old carelessness as the Cougars played against Mississippi State defenses.

some things that Wire Service is not as well as what it is. It is not another newspaper life. It is not simply on action, action, action. It is not a half-hour program with the difficult compressions which usually plague that format.

Wire Service is, on the other hand, these things: It presents, with only a mild and legitimate stretch of the imagination, what might happen to a reporter who goes to cover an interesting story. It is as much concerned with character as plot. And its hour-length format, offering a weekly movie filmed especially for the TV audience, is a new and stimulating idea.

These, at least, are the conclusions of one viewer who watched "Blood Back Mine" last Thursday. In this week's offering, "Campanella Trains," the same method will prevail: a reporter on an interesting story, with the characters and events of his assignment the focus of interest — and the reporter himself serving mainly as the camera eye.

Demos Fued in Kentucky Could Cost

By JACK BELL

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP) — Kentucky Democrats are facing again and unless the signs change the feud may hand over the state's electoral votes to President Eisenhower and a Senate seat to the Republicans.

At this point, Eisenhower appears to have an advantage. He has better shown more than he has then. He has strong newspaper support. And he is the beneficiary of a somber national trend among Democrats to go back to their own party.

This adds up to a battle in which Democratic Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler's heavily favored candidates eventually could tip the scales toward the Republicans.

Chandler is feuding with Sen. Earl Clements, seeking reelection, and former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, running for the remaining four years of the term of the late Sen. Alben Barkley.

Although Chandler has announced he will vote the regular Democratic ticket, this obvious regard for Stevenson has not been lost on the 100 state employees and their friends. He has cut off the usual Democratic practice of obtaining "voluntary" contributions from such employees, thus forcing the party to look elsewhere for an estimated $250,000 in campaign funds.

In this has stirred the opposing faction of Democrats to greater efforts than before to offset the defection in party ranks which holds out the only prospect for a Republican victory.

Prosperity also seems to be working for the GOP. Pike County is the red state once in eastern Kentucky. In 1952, Pike County gave Stevenson 12,781 votes to Eisenhower's 9,775. Four years later the Democrats show some signs of money men crying it.

Mrs. Francis M. Burke, who works with her husband, an attorney in the Democratic cause, said she and her husband believe the county is being Democratic again, but she sounded a little uncertain. Her mother and sister, standing nearby, said they are going to vote for Eisenhower.

Duane Highway 400, Mrs. Mabel DeWitt, a waitress and a widow, said she is voting for Eisenhower because she thinks he is a "fair man." "Somebody," she said, "Stevenson just doesn't seem to get through to little people like me, I would vote for him because I think he understands us, but I just can't seem to feel that Mr. Stevenson is sincere."

It was Saturday afternoon in Pikeville and the miners and their families were out in force. Sidewalks were four deep with men, women and kids.

A random check of five miners turned up no conclusive political evidence. Two were for Stevenson, two for Eisenhower and one undecided.

West on 400 a score of milks, a country store clerk sliced off a quarter pound of cheese and ventured the cautious guess that "most of the folks around here seem to be for Eisenhower."

Farther west David Brent, who grows tobacco, said he had to cut his acreage back so much he is depending more on other crops still the time. He said he is striking with the farmers got a better break under Democratic administrations.

In the white fence country around Lexington are the expensive horse breeding farms. It doesn't always reflect the sentiment of central Kentucky in which it lies.

Mr. Ida Burnet, Negro elevator operator in a Lexington hotel, said she is siding with Ike.

"I think President Eisenhower is a gentleman," she said. "He has added dignity to the office of president and that is why I am for him."

A Negro hotel maid said she always has been a Democrat but is going to vote for Eisenhower, "because he's a good man and me and my boy is doing all right."

Eisenhower has whipped up the Republicans with a personal visit to Lexington and may be back in the state again before the election.

On how well he does here may depend the success of the party's two senatorial candidates, John Sherman Cooper, former ambassador to India, generally is regarded as being ahead of Wetherby for the Barkley short term given as his chance against Clements, who has demonstrated he is a difficult man to defeat in Kentucky.

While Clements and Wetherby contend there is widespread farm dissatisfaction in Kentucky, it is hard to find any sizable indications of it.

Neither does there appear to be an organized and effective labor union opposition to Eisenhower.

Excavation of a limestone cave recently near Bridgeport, Ala., reveals it was a human habitation 8,000 years ago.

Texas to Give NAACP Some Hot Charges

The state also offered evidence of a $10,000 contribution from the NAACP to the NAACP in 1954.

One exhibit offered contained an unsigned report of a NAACP member, "GEO. J. JONES," dated 1954, in which the NAACP and its plans to give more this year's money to the NAACP.

An NAACP "newsletter" of this year said the organization, chartered in Texas as a charitable, non-profit, group, definitely did not take part in political campaigns. Still, the newsletter urged NAACP members to contact precinct leaders and work for the Aug. 20 Democratic primary.

"If Price (Dan) is elected by the NAACP," it said, "the NAACP will be under the Citizens Council," the newsletter said. "Let's do something about it at the polls."

Hope Griddler Praised for Play at UH

The following article written by John Hollis of the Houston Post appeared recently in the Texas newspapers. As it concerns a local boy playing at University of Houston the Star is printing it in detail, with exception of a picture which accompanied the story in the Post. The article follows:

During Saturday's final game-type scrimmage, an enterprising Post photographer focused on the action and, during the rough stuff, preserved four exposures for posterity.

Back on the grounds of the fourth estate, the guy with the Graflex produced four photos. They showed:

Ray Churchwell tackling Paul Sweeten.

Ray Churchwell tackling Billy Koons.

Ray Churchwell running back a punt.

Ray Churchwell knocking Tackle Joe Rallano back into ball carrier Don Flynn, with Flynn tripping up.

Regardless where you look on any day the Cougars practice, spindly-legged Ray Churchwell is where the action is thickest. Speak Curley Johnson, Dalva Allen, the garrulous Rudy Spittenberger or anyone else, when they start talking about guts, the thin-shanked, soft-spoken Churchwell is first mentioned.

Phil Muscarello, an ex-Marine who's been there, perhaps gives the sophomore from Hope, Arkansas, his top compliment. "Churchwell," Muscarello nods, "has got a stomach full of guts. He'll die into anybody."

As further testimony Churchwell himself held up a head of practice because of a sprained ankle suffered in last Saturday's scrimmage. Ray Churchwell was back in pads, tackling with all his old carelessness as the Cougars played against Mississippi State defenses.

You won't find Churchwell among the team's holdovers or even four units; his sophomore status yields to those of higher grading. But ever-ready Churchwell was back in pads, tackling with all his old carelessness as the Cougars played against Mississippi State defenses.

Hodges said he spent $20,000 on a luxury hotel in Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., bought a $75,000 interest in a loan company, spent $60,000 on a farm and spent $100,000 on a small fleet of private planes.

Earlier, Hodges was unable to explain why he looted the state treasury.

"I had no reason, I suppose it was temporary insanity," Hodges mumbled when asked the motive behind his mammoth embezzlement during a public hearing of the U. S. Senate Banking and Currency Committee yesterday.

some things that Wire Service is not as well as what it is. It is not another newspaper version of newspaper life. It is not intent simply on action, action, action. It is not a half-hour program with the difficult compressions which usually plague that format.

Wire Service is, on the other hand, these things: It presents, with only a mild and legitimate stretch of the imagination, what might happen to a reporter who goes to cover an interesting story. It is as much concerned with character as plot. And its hour-length format, offering a weekly movie filmed especially for the TV audience, is a new and stimulating idea.

These, at least, are the conclusions of one viewer who watched "Blood Back Mine" last Thursday. In this week's offering, "Campanella Trains," the same method will prevail: a reporter on an interesting story, with the characters and events of his assignment the focus of interest—and the reporter himself serving mainly as the camera eye.

Just as it seems that the most interesting programs on the home seven channels longer and longer periods of time, along comes Jonathan Winters with a mere 15 minutes on NBC-TV Tuesday evenings to denigrate the quarter-hour is not yet dead. He is probably the most mobile-faced monologist now with us—and he's the most amusing. His show, which features different guest artists weekly, is a good one.

Comes now the biggest money quiz show yet in the new season of big money quiz shows. It's "Break The $20,000 Bank," which makes its debut on NBC-TV Tuesday night.

Demos Fued in Kentucky Could Cost

By JACK BELL

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP)—Kentucky Democrats are facing again and unless the signs change the feud may hand over the state's electoral votes to President Eisenhower and a Senate seat to the Republicans.

At this point, Eisenhower appears to have an advantage. He has better shown more than he has then. He has strong newspaper support. And he is the beneficiary of a somber national trend among Democrats to go back to their own party.

This adds up to a battle in which Democratic Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler's heavily favored candidates could easily could tip the scales toward the Republicans.

Chandler is feuding with Sen. Earl Clements, seeking reelection, and former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, running for the remaining four years of the term of the late Sen. Alben Barkley.

Although Chandler has announced he will vote the regular Democratic ticket, this obvious regard for Stevenson has not been lost on the 100 state employees and their friends. He has cut off the usual Democratic practice of obtaining "voluntary" contributions from such employees, thus forcing the party to look elsewhere for an estimated $250,000 in campaign funds.

In this has stirred the opposing faction of Democrats to greater efforts than before to offset the defection in party ranks which holds out the only prospect for a Republican victory.

Prosperity also seems to be working for the GOP. Pike County is the red state once in eastern Kentucky. In 1952, Pike County gave Stevenson 12,781 votes to Eisenhower's 9,775. Four years later the Democrats show some signs of money men crying it.

Mrs. Francis M. Burke, who works with her husband, an attorney in the Democratic cause, said she and her husband believe the county is being Democratized again, but she sounded a little uncertain. Her mother and sister, standing nearby, said they are going to vote for Eisenhower.

Duane Highway 400, Mrs. Mabel DeWitt, a waitress and a widow, said she is voting for Eisenhower because she thinks he is a "fair man." "Somewhere," she said, "Stevenson just doesn't seem to get through to little people like me, I would vote for him because I think he understands us, but I just can't seem to feel that Mr. Stevenson is sincere."

It was Saturday afternoon in Pikeville and the miners and their families were out in force. Sidewalks were four deep with men, women and kids.

A random check of five miners turned up no conclusive political evidence. Two were for Stevenson, two for Eisenhower and one undecided.

West on 400 a score of milks, a country store clerk sliced off a quarter pound of cheese and ventured the cautious guess that "most of the folks around here seem to be for Eisenhower."

Farther west David Brent, who grows tobacco, said he had to cut his acreage back so much he is depending more on other crops still the time. He said he is striking with the farmers got a better break under Democratic administrations.

In the white fence country around Lexington are the expensive horse breeding farms. It doesn't always reflect the sentiment of central Kentucky in which it lies.

He is true.

Mrs. Ida Burnet, Negro elevator operator in a Lexington hotel, said she is siding with Ike.

"I think President Eisenhower is a gentleman," she said. "He has added dignity to the office of president and that is why I and many others are for him."

A Negro hotel maid said she always has been a Democrat but is going to vote for Eisenhower, "because he's a good man and me and my boy is doing all right."

Eisenhower has whipped up the Republicans with a personal visit to Lexington and may be back in the state again before the election.

On how well he does here may depend the success of the party's two senatorial candidates, John Sherman Cooper, former ambassador to India, generally is regarded as being ahead of Wetherby for issue Barkley short term given as his chance against Clements, who has demonstrated he is a difficult man to defeat in Kentucky.

While Clements and Wetherby contend there is widespread farm dissatisfaction in Kentucky, it is hard to find any sizable indications of it.

Neither does there appear to be an organized and effective labor union opposition to Eisenhower.

New Artificial Kidney Could Prevent Death

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

SAINT FRANCISCO (AP) — A surgeon today described a simple new artificial kidney machine which might prevent death from blood poisoning.

The machine, which he called "the work of all kidneys," is made of plastic tubing and is used to remove poisons from the blood. It is a simple, portable device that can be used in a hospital or at home.

Dr. Evelyn spoke at a session devoted to new research ideas to save lives.

"Blood poisoning, or uremia, comes when injured or diseased kidneys fail to remove poisons from the blood," he said. "One answer is to tap blood flowing through an artery and send it through an artificial kidney machine where it's purified and put back into a vein.

The heart of these machines is a thin sausage casing with tiny pores permitting poisons in the blood, such as potassium, urea and nitrogen, to escape into a special bath of surrounding fluid.

Dr. Schloer finds the sausage casing works just as well when put inside the small intestine. It can remove poisons from the blood, then even though not in direct contact with the blood.

The tube, with one end closed, is put into the intestine. The special liquid which is pumped into the open end of the tube and escapes through another channel at the open end.

So far this method has been tried on only one human, a

46-year-old man dying of hopeless kidney damage. Lying in a coma when he wasn't out of his mind from the effects of blood poisoning, he was too sick to swallow the tubing, so a seven-inch section of it was inserted surgically in his small intestine.

Within hours he improved, could talk rationally with his wife. He was holding his own against blood poisoning, but died later of a coronary attack.

Less ill persons might swallow the tubing, getting another temporarily built-in kidney to pull them through acute attacks of kidney failure until their own kidneys recovered, Dr. Schloer said.

During World War II, wine ran in the gutters of Marsala, Sicily, when Allied planes bombed the big wine works there.

A continued disregard for destruction in the spring gained admiration from both observers and opponents. Finally, it was conceded Churchwell simply liked contact, even if it meant he had to give away plenty of pounds.

Investigation of this young man — one of the few who's gained weight during Houston's hot, sultry fall practice periods — reveals he has his own fool-proof formula.

"If you start worrying about yourself," Ray grins, "you're liable to get hurt."

"My high school coach at Hope always said, 'the bigger they are, the harder they fall.' I've always tried to remember that."

A single-wing talkback in high school, Churchwell still can't believe his good fortune at being at U. H. "I never knew people lived like this," he says simply. "When I came here, I decided I'd give everything I had for the chance of staying here."

Churchwell's determination was such that he joined the track team after coaches faulted him on speed and ran a blazing 46.2 440-yard dash and 1:59.2 half-mile. The results surprised everyone but Churchwell who, in 1954, won the Arkansas state title with a 51.8 440-yard timing.

His pickup in speed was apparent in the fall and Ray, still down the list of hallmarks, regardless is expected to get in his stride during the season.

A batter all the way, Churchwell looks back on his trial by tackling with a laugh and a shrug. "All I can say is," he grins, "when you hit that Caraway, you know you've hit something."

Yesterday's exhibit was made permanent.

The state included evidence intended to show political maneuvering by a Texas-based group, the Citizens National Bank, in the state branches since 1952. Most of the exhibits were from the Houston NAACP office.

One exhibit offered contained an unsigned report of a NAACP member, the "CIO" gave $10,000 to the NAACP and a plan to give more this year.

An NAACP "newsletter" of this year said the organization, chartered in Texas as a charitable, non-profit group, originally did not take part in political campaigns. Still, the newsletter urged NAACP members to contact precinct leaders and work for the Aug. 20 Democratic primary.

"If Price (Daniel) is elected today, I will be under the Citizens Council," the newsletter said. "Let's do something about it at the polls."

Minutes of the 1954 Executive Committee meeting said the most outstanding achievement of the year was its political work. "Mr. (Allan) Shivers' tactics," it stated, "were in an unimagined letter, which the assistants attorney general said they found at the NAACP, restraining order against NAACP operations in Texas should be made permanent."

New Artificial Kidney Could Prevent Death

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

SAINT FRANCISCO (AP) — A surgeon today described a simple new artificial kidney machine which might prevent death from blood poisoning.

The machine, which he called "the work of all time," would be used to remove "fatal poisons" from the blood. It is made of a thin, collapsible tube of plastic, sausage casing, filled with a special fluid to make it work like a healthy kidney to purify the blood. It is used when the kidneys are small, injured or diseased.

Dr. Evelyn spoke at a session devoted to new research ideas to save lives.

"Blood poisoning, or uremia, comes when injured or diseased kidneys fail to remove poisons accumulating in the blood. One answer is to tap blood flowing through an artificial kidney machine which purifies it and returns it to the body."

The heart of these machines is a thin sausage casing with tiny pores permitting poisons in the blood, such as potassium, urea and nitrogen, to escape into a special bath of surrounding fluid.

Dr. Schloer finds the sausage casing works just as well when put inside the small intestine. It can remove poisons from the blood, then even though not in direct contact with the blood.

The tube, with one end closed, is put into the intestine. The special liquid which is pumped into the open end of the tube and escapes through another channel at the open end.

So far this method has been tried on only one human, a 46-year-old man dying of hopeless kidney damage. Lying in a coma when he was not out of his mind from the effects of blood poisoning. He was too sick to swallow the tubing, so a seven-inch section of it was inserted surgically in his small intestine.

Within hours he improved, could talk rationally with his wife. He was holding his own against blood poisoning, but died later of a coronary attack.

Less ill persons might swallow the tubing, getting another temporarily built-in kidney to pull them through acute attacks of kidney failure until their own kidneys recovered, Dr. Schloer said.

The following article written by John Hollis of the Houston Post appeared recently in the Texas newspapers. As it concerns a local boy playing at University of Houston the Star is printing it in detail, with exception of a picture which accompanied the story in the Post. The article follows:

During Saturday's final game-type scrimmage, an enterprising Post photographer focused on the action and, during the rough stuff, preserved four exposures for posterity.

Back on the grounds of the fourth estate, the guy with the Graflex produced four photos. They showed:

Ray Churchwell tackling Paul Sweeten.

Ray Churchwell tackling Billy Koons.

Ray Churchwell running back a punt.

Ray Churchwell knocking Tackle Joe Rallano back into ball carrier Don Flynn, with Flynn tripping up.

Regardless where you look on any day the Cougars practice, spindly-legged Ray Churchwell is where the action is thickest. Speak Ray Churchwell, the garbulous Rudy Spittenberger or anyone else, when they start talking about guts, the thin-shanked, soft-spoken Churchwell is first mentioned.

Phil Muscarello, an ex-Marine who's been there, perhaps gives the sophomore from Hope, Arkansas, his top compliment. "Churchwell," Muscarello nods, "has got a stomach full of guts. He'll pile into anybody."

As further testimony Churchwell himself held his own in practice because of a sprained ankle suffered in last Saturday's scrimmage. Ray Churchwell was back in pads, tackling with all his old carelessness as the Cougars played against Mississippi State defenses.

You won't find Churchwell among the team's holdovers or even four units; his sophomore status yields to those of higher grading. But ever-ready Churchwell was back in pads, tackling with all his old carelessness as the Cougars played against Mississippi State defenses.

some things that Wire Service is not as well as what it is. It is not another newspaper life. It is not simply on action, action, action. It is not a half-hour program with the difficult compressions which usually plague that format.

Wire Service is, on the other hand, these things: It presents, with only a mild and legitimate stretch of the imagination, what might happen to a reporter who goes to cover an interesting story. It is as much concerned with character as plot. And its hour-length format, offering a weekly movie filmed especially for the TV audience, is a new and stimulating idea.

These, at least, are the conclusions of one viewer who watched "Blood Back Mine" last Thursday. In this week's offering, "Campanella Trains," the same method will prevail: a reporter on an interesting story, with the characters and events of his assignment the focus of interest—and the reporter himself serving mainly as the camera eye.

Demos Fued in Kentucky Could Cost

By JACK BELL

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Oct. 9 (AP) — Kentucky Democrats are facing again and unless the signs change the feud may hand over the state's electoral votes to President Eisenhower and a Senate seat to the Republicans.

At this point, Eisenhower appears to have an advantage. He has a better record than he has then. He has strong newspaper support. And he is the beneficiary of a somber national trend among Democrats to go back to their own party.

This adds up to a battle in which Democratic Gov. A. B. (Happy) Chandler's heavily favored candidates could easily be out of the state. Chandler is feuding with Sen. Earle Clements, seeking reelection, and former Gov. Lawrence Wetherby, running for the remaining four years of the term of the late Sen. Alben Barkley.

Although Chandler has announced he will vote the regular Democratic ticket, this obvious regard for Stevenson has not been lost on the 100 state employees and their friends. He has cut off the usual Democratic practice of obtaining "voluntary" contributions from such employees, thus forcing the party to look elsewhere for an estimated $250,000 in campaign funds.

In this has stirred the opposing faction of Democrats to greater efforts than before to offset the defection in party ranks which holds out the only prospect for a Republican victory.

Prosperity also seems to be working for the GOP. Pike County is the red state once in eastern Kentucky. In 1952, Pike County gave Stevenson 12,781 votes to Eisenhower's 9,775. Four years later the Democrats show some signs of money men crying it.

Mrs. Francis M. Burke, who works with her husband, an attorney in the Democratic cause, said she and her husband believe the county is being Democratized again, but she sounded a little uncertain. Her mother and sister, standing nearby, said they are going to vote for Eisenhower.

Duane Highway 400, Mrs. Mabel DeWitt, a waitress and a widow, said she is voting for Eisenhower because she thinks he is a "fair man." "Somewhere," she said, "Stevenson just doesn't seem to get through to little people like me, I would vote for him because I think he understands us, but I just can't seem to feel that Mr. Stevenson is sincere."

It was Saturday afternoon in Pikeville and the miners and their families were out in force. Sidewalks were four deep with men, women and kids.

A random check of five miners turned up no conclusive political evidence. Two were for Stevenson, two for Eisenhower and one undecided.

West on 400 a score of miles, a country store clerk sliced off a quarter pound of cheese and ventured the cautious guess that "most of the folks around here seem to be for Eisenhower."

Farther west David Brent, who grows tobacco, said he had to cut his acreage back so much he is depending more on other crops still the time. He said he is striking with the farmers got a better break under Democratic administrations.

In the white fence country around Lexington are the expensive horse breeding farms. It doesn't always reflect the sentiment of central Kentucky in which it lies.

Mr. Ida Burnet, Negro elevator operator in a Lexington hotel, said she is sickening with Ike. "I think President Eisenhower is a gentleman," she said. "He has added dignity to the office of president and that is why I and my people are for him."

A Negro hotel maid said she always has been a Democrat but is going to vote for Eisenhower, "because he's a good man and me and my boy is doing all right."

Eisenhower has whipped up the Republicans with a personal visit to Lexington and may be back in the state again before the election.

Depend the success of the party's two senatorial candidates, John Sherman Cooper, former ambassador to India, generally is regarded as being ahead of Wetherby for the Barkley short term given as a chance against Clements, who has demonstrated he is a difficult man to defeat in Kentucky.

While Clements and Wetherby contend there is widespread farm dissatisfaction in Kentucky, it is hard to find any sizable indications of it.

Neither does there appear to be an organized and effective labor union opposition to Eisenhower.

Texas to Give NAACP Some Hot Charges

Cool Weather Extends Over the Nation

By The Associated Press

Cool air spread over most of the central part of the country today and was expected to extend over the northern two-thirds of the country during the day.

It was chilly from the Dakotas to the Gulf of Mexico, and in the Lakes region through the north and central states and into the Texas Panhandle. It was no longer in the Dakotas, with temperatures generally in the 40s in most other northern areas. To near 50 in New Mexico, where temperatures were about 20 degrees lower than 24 hours earlier.

The cooler weather was expected to move into the North Atlantic Coast states and southward through Kentucky and Oklahoma. However, southerly winds brought warming trends from the Gulf of Mexico into the Texas Panhandle and into the Ohio Valley and the Atlantic Coast states. Temperatures were about 10 degrees higher than yesterday morning in the Texas Panhandle and in the Ohio Valley to the mid-70s in New England to the mid-70s in Texas.

Dogs, like human beings, suffer acutely from claustrophobia—the fear of being shut in.

Yesterday's exhibit was made permanent.

The exhibit was made permanent by the state included evidence intended to show political maneuvering by a Texas-based NAACP state branches since 1952. Most of the exhibits were from the Houston NAACP office.

One exhibit offered contained an unsigned report of a NAACP member, the "CIO" gave $10,000 to the NAACP and a plan to give more this year.

An NAACP "newsletter" of this year said the organization, chartered in Texas as a charitable, non-profit group, primarily did not take part in political campaigns. Still, the newsletter urged NAACP members to collect precinct leaders and work for the Aug. 20 Democratic primary.

"If Price Daniel is elected you will be under the Citizens Council," the newsletter said. "Let's do something about it at the polls."

Ike to Announce
New Plan for
Drought Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the White House will announce a new plan for relief and rehabilitation of the drought-stricken areas.

Eisenhower told his news conference he considers the drought problem in the Southwest extremely serious and becoming more so.

The administration will try to meet it on an emergency basis to prevent hardship in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and other drought areas until Congress meets again and provides longer-term solutions, he said.

These will be among the emergency actions taken, Eisenhower said.

1. An additional subsidy on grain.

2. A reduction of freight rates into the drought area.

3. Steps to provide hay for livestock.

4. The provision of funds for Mexico, through an export-import bank loan announced yesterday, to permit the sale of breeder cattle to the Mexicans.

Finally, Eisenhower said, he will summon a conference of responsible persons in the next eight days to work out further remedies for the situation.

L. R. to Vote on
City Manager Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mayor Woodrow Mann yesterday called for an election on a proposed city manager form of government for the city of Little Rock.

The vote will be held in connection with the Nov. 6 general election.

The Pulaski County Grand Jury which investigated Little Rock municipal affairs recommended a city manager form of government.

Mann, who was criticized severely by the grand jury, said the jury recommendation did not influence his decision.

The mayor is authorized under an 1928 statute to call such an election.

The factory will be located on a 40-acre tract near the south city limits of Fayetteville, Mr. A. Spauld, president of Standard Register, said.

The plant will occupy 40,000 feet of floor space and will be expanded to 120,000 square feet as additional equipment becomes available.

Joe Dickey, industrial engineer for the AIDC, said that the number of employees who will be mostly skilled workers is expected to double in five years.

The factory, founded in 1912, has seven plants in four U.S. cities with other factories in five foreign countries. The firm's total sales for 1955 have been estimated at $44 million dollars.

For the first time since the private talks began Hammarskjöld met with Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov for a two-hour session.

Shepilov would not comment as he left the U. N. building afterwards. Hammarskjöld also talked with Yugoslav Foreign Minister Konstantin Popovic.

Hammarskjöld discussed the Suez dispute for 90 minutes Tuesday and for nearly three hours yesterday with the British, French and Egyptian ministers.

Foreign Minister Christian Pizieu said the talks had been "purely exploratory."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd continued to insist that there was no basis for a "pushed" Suez crisis.

New Factory

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A three-million-dollar factory which will employ 350 workers will be constructed at Fayetteville next year, the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission announced today.

No Distinction in Races, Synod Told

EL DORADO (AP) — Mrs. L. M. McCutchen, executive secretary of the Board of Women's Work, said today that there should be no distinction between the races.

Mrs. McCutchen, a resident of Atlanta, last night addressed a session of the 43rd annual meeting of the Presbyterian Women of the Church, Synod of Arkansas.

Mrs. Dorothea McCutchen of Marianna was elected president earlier yesterday. Other officers were: P. E. Logan of Fayetteville, vice president, and Mrs. E. H. Mello of El Dorado, recording secretary.

President Rips
Back at Adlai
on Atom Threat

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower firing back at Adlai Stevenson, said today his administration has done everything humanly possible to bring the H-bomb threat under international control and use atomic power for peaceful purposes.

Eisenhower also told a news conference he regards management of America's internal affairs as the paramount issue of the presidential campaign.

A reporter told Eisenhower that Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said in an address at Seattle Tuesday night that "Republican politicians, including the president, have little understanding or sympathy with attempts to save man from the greatest horror his ingenuity has ever devised."

Stevenson was talking about the H-bomb and defending his proposal that H-bomb tests be ended, under certain conditions.

In reply to a request for comment on the Stevenson remarks at Seattle, Eisenhower said the record is there and speaks for itself.

He then went on to say his administration has done everything humanly possible to get this thing — the H-bomb — under control and use it for peace.

Stevenson's suggestions that H-bomb testing be ended and the possibility of halting the military draft be explored have turned into two of the hottest issues of the campaign.

Eisenhower said today he has uttered his last words on those two subjects.

He made that remark after being told by a newsmen there have been "widely circulated reports" that the Eisenhower administration was considering halting H-bomb testing.

Stevenson said he never had uttered "honest" losses," and that his administration had done everything humanly possible to get this thing — the H-bomb — under control and use it for peace.

Most of today's news conference was devoted to politics.

Eisenhower said, in response to a question, that he is willing to go anywhere and do anything to help bring about a peaceful solution to the Suez crisis.

He said, however, it must be to a question, that he is willing to go anywhere and do anything to help bring about a peaceful solution to the Suez crisis.

Eisenhower replied that of course he would be willing to make such an appearance.

Adlai in Bid for Votes of California

STORMING ADLAI E. STEVENSON bid today for California's 52 electoral votes after being accused by Oregon Democrats that he would carry the state.

The Democratic candidate snuffed his campaign in California last night, dying from Portland, Ore., where he got a roaring welcome at a party rally.

Adlai Stevenson, the Democratic presidential nominee, said in an address at Seattle Tuesday night that "Republican politicians, including the president, have little understanding or sympathy with attempts to save man from the greatest horror his ingenuity has ever devised."

Stevenson was talking about the H-bomb and defending his proposal that H-bomb tests be ended, under certain conditions.

In reply to a request for comment on the Stevenson remarks at Seattle, Eisenhower said the record is there and speaks for itself.

He then went on to say his administration has done everything humanly possible to get this thing — the H-bomb — under control and use it for peace.

Stevenson's suggestions that H-bomb testing be ended and the possibility of halting the military draft be explored have turned into two of the hottest issues of the campaign.

Eisenhower said today he has uttered his last words on those two subjects.

He made that remark after being told by a newsmen there have been "widely circulated reports" that the Eisenhower administration was considering halting H-bomb testing.

Stevenson said he never had uttered "honest" losses," and that his administration had done everything humanly possible to get this thing — the H-bomb — under control and use it for peace.

Ike to Announce
New Plan for
Drought Relief

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower said today the White House will announce a new plan for relief and rehabilitation of the drought-stricken areas.

Eisenhower told his news conference he considers the drought problem in the Southwest extremely serious and becoming more so.

The administration will try to meet it on an emergency basis to prevent hardship in Texas, Oklahoma, Missouri and other drought areas until Congress meets again and provides longer-term solutions, he said.

These will be among the emergency actions taken, Eisenhower said.

1. An additional subsidy on grain.

2. A reduction of freight rates into the drought area.

3. Steps to provide hay for livestock.

4. The provision of funds for Mexico, through an export-import bank loan announced yesterday, to permit the sale of breeder cattle to the Mexicans.

Finally, Eisenhower said, he will summon a conference of responsible persons in the next eight days to work out further remedies for the situation.

L. R. to Vote on
City Manager Plan

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Mayor Woodrow Mann yesterday called for an election on a proposed city manager form of government for the city of Little Rock.

The vote will be held in connection with the Nov. 6 general election.

The Pulaski County Grand Jury which investigated Little Rock municipal affairs recommended a city manager form of government.

Mann, who was criticized severely by the grand jury, said the jury recommendation did not influence his decision.

The mayor is authorized under an 1928 statute to call such an election.

The location of the University of Arkansas was an "important factor" in selecting Fayetteville as a site, company officials said.

The factory will be located on a 40-acre tract near the south city limits of Fayetteville, Mr. A. Spauld, president of Standard Register, said.

The plant will occupy 40,000 feet of floor space and will be expanded to 120,000 square feet as additional equipment becomes available.

Joe Dickey, industrial engineer for the AIDC, said that the number of employees who will be mostly skilled workers is expected to double in five years.

The factory, founded in 1912, has seven plants in four U.S. cities with other factories in five foreign countries. The firm's total sales for 1955 have been estimated at $44 million dollars.

For the first time since the private talks began Hammarskjöld met with Soviet Foreign Minister Dmitri Shepilov for a two-hour session.

Shepilov would not comment as he left the U. N. building afterwards. Hammarskjöld also talked with Yugoslav Foreign Minister Konstantin Popovic.

Hammarskjöld discussed the Suez dispute for 90 minutes Tuesday and for nearly three hours yesterday with the British, French and Egyptian ministers.

Foreign Minister Christian Pizieu said the talks had been "purely exploratory."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd continued to insist that there was no basis for a "pushed" Suez crisis.

Fayetteville
to Get Big
New Factory

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A three-million-dollar factory which will employ 350 workers will be constructed at Fayetteville next year, the Arkansas Industrial Development Commission announced today.

William Rock, director of the AIDC, said that Standard Register Co., of Dayton, Ohio, will construct the plant, which will produce paper forms and feeding devices for business machines.
